

What to Bring:

- Clothing: should be informal and planned for outdoor living. Comfortable shoes for rocky path walking, warm clothes for cool weather, and rain clothes are necessities. More than one bathing suit is desirable for the frequent swimmer.
- Light: There is electricity at the Change House, Main House and Retreat. Each camper should bring along at least one reliable flashlight for night travel. Gas lanterns, battery operated lamps or solar charged lights are brought by many campers to supplement flashlights in the cabins, and several solar lights are available on the island for borrowing if needed. Batteries are available for purchase at the camp store.
- Toiletries: There are solar showers provided at each cabin. Use of biodegradable soap for washing and shampooing is encouraged. Bath towels are provided, but many prefer to also bring their own beach towels for the dock. Sunscreen and insect repellent is available at the camp store.
- Games and books are available in the Main Lodge, but many campers bring their own. Parents should consider having some materials to entertain children on rainy days.
